Questions to Dig Deeper:

1. Why do you think God instructed the Israelites to build a memorial from the stones of the Jordan River? What does this teach us about remembering and telling our stories of God's faithfulness?
2. In Joshua 4:6-7, it says the stones are to be a sign so that future generations will ask about them. What are some "stones" or moments in your life that you think God wants you to remember and share with others?
3. How can sharing our personal stories of God's work in our lives strengthen the faith of others? Have you ever been encouraged by someone else's testimony?
4. What keeps us from sharing our stories of faith—especially the hard or vulnerable parts? How might God want to use even those parts for His glory?
5. If you were to set up a "memorial stone" today, what event or moment of God's faithfulness would it represent? How can you share that story with someone this week?
